Comments	A number of requirements within the Section 5. Testing Requirement Results below that have been assessed as compliant at supplier level, may in fact be managed or controlled at operator level dependent on the custom solution that has been supplied to the operator. An indication of the custom solution provided to the operator should be available in documentation provided by the supplier to the operator. Careful consideration must be given to the solution provided to the operator and undue reliance should not be placed on the compliance assessment of certain requirements if compliance is not managed by the supplier. Additional certification testing at operator level may therefore be needed, even where an indication of compliance is stipulated in the table below.
